Volunteers needed to lead Girls Inc. winter programs Girls Inc. of Greater Indianapolis seeks volunteers to facilitate programs

INDIANAPOLIS—Girls Inc. of Greater Indianapolis is seeking 100 new volunteers by the end of December to facilitate winter programs across greater Indianapolis. Volunteer facilitators are thoroughly trained to deliver interactive and empowering programs for girls that address bullying, self-esteem, media literacy, and money management. Winter programs begin January 18, 2011.

Girls Inc. seeks individuals who are available for at least 1 hour per week for a 6 week period. Visit www.girlsincindy.org/volunteer to meet current volunteers and learn more about their experience. Programs are delivered to girls ages 6-14 at outreach locations throughout greater Indianapolis and take place Monday-Friday between 9 a.m. and 6 p.m. Volunteers can select the Girls Inc. program they would like to lead, the age group they would like to work with, and a convenient location to their office or home.

“Girls Inc. volunteers are role models that can share personal, real world experiences with our girls,” said LaTasha Hudson, volunteer partnership coordinator. “They are multi-faceted and come to us with a variety of professional experiences, as well as levels of education, and are looking for an opportunity to make a difference in the lives of others.”

Program topics align with one of three categories, which reflect the key words in the Girls Inc. mission: Strong, Healthy Relationships; Smart College and Career Planning, and Bold, Empowered Girls.

All volunteers must be at least 18 years of age with reliable transportation. For more information, contact Mollie Hicks, volunteer engagement specialist, at 317.522.2608 or apply online at www.girlsincindy.org.

Girls Inc. of Greater Indianapolis inspires all girls to be strong, smart, and bold. For much of its history, Girls Inc. operated two after-school clubs. In 2007, Girls Inc. began delivering all of its programs via outreach collaborations in order to reach all greater Indianapolis girls. Girls Inc. partners with schools and community organizations and relies on volunteer facilitators to deliver its six-week programs for girls. All of Girls Inc.’s programs are highly-researched and age-appropriate. For more information, please visit www.girlsincindy.org.
